Who we are

A Scandinavian marketplace, founded in 1921 by Norwegian immigrant Charlie Ingebrechtsen and now run by the 3rd and 4th generations of the Ingebrechtsen and Dahl families. We strive to foster a deep appreciation for our heritage by offering the foods and goods that connect us all.

Where we are

We're proud to be a constant presence on East Lake Street, a vibrant neighborhood where immigrants have long come to make a start in their new home, and still do. We work to be a peaceful, happy place where everyone is welcome.

What we've been up to!

Along with the rest of the world, we've survived the disruptions and challenges of the last couple of years. This year we went through a (much longer than anticipated) renovation of our grand old building. We're stronger than ever, we think, thanks to so much support from our wonderful staff and you, our customers who have come for generations or are new to the family! As we begin our second century, we look backward with gratitude and forward with excitement and hope. We hope you visit soon ... in person or online

NOTE!

Shipping and supply chain issues are better this year but still happening, and many of our products are at the mercy of those. We're working hard to have plenty of stock, but do order as early as you can! Thanks
